

Science Shorts

Elephants were used by ancient armies as tanks are used today.

The original ancestor of the elephant was about the size of a pig.

The African elephant is bigger and stronger than the Indian—he can be distinguished by his larger ears.

Since December, cellulose has been mixed with flour in Norway's bread.

Chicago's recently completed South District Filtration Plant is believed the largest in the world.

Naming submarines after fish, the U. S. Navy has some new ones named Snook, Raton, Scamp, Pogy, Mingo, Tunny and Pargo.

Clipped By:

ROlszewski
Wed, Feb 26, 2020